What is Your Peace of Mind Worth?

It's no longer a question of should you do business in China – the only question is how you do it. You can surf the web and find a broker, who will find a factory, who will promise you they can make the product you want, who will deliver a sample and the sample may even be from the factory that actually produces the product. You may even receive your product when you expect it.

Or, you may not. And if you don't, you will have wasted months of time only to have to start the process all over again. There is a better way.

Doing business in China is very different from doing business here. Expect the unexpected – cultural differences, communication challenges, geographical distance and government issues are just a few of the reasons why knowing China is absolutely critical to successfully doing business in China.

Marriott® and Motel 6® are both hotels, but they are not equal. All Chinese bearings are not equal, either. Knowing where to go for your specific application, using business relationships established over the past 15 years, is what makes RBI your best choice for peace of mind.

We know China. We live there, and we understand the culture. If you try to do business in China with Western expectations you're in for a long day. For example, the Chinese are taught in business to always say, "Yes, we can", and to never say, "No, we can not do that". In China, to say "no" might cause the customer to look down on them. We know what our factories can do for you.

The good news is once you get through the maze the impact on your bottom line is usually significant. We can help you through the maze by cutting your project development time – often in half. We already have the production structure in place, and our weekly container shipments from China mean you don't have to take a year's worth of product at a time.

Isn't it time you had some peace of mind?
